Following the publication of [1], a number of citation issues were found to have occurred due to an error in the references management tool used. These errors resulted in a number of significant citations being omitted from the text and reference section, a number of citations being duplicated and issues with the order and numbering of the citations with the text and reference section. As such, changes to the text, tables and figures related to these citation errors have been made. A number of other minor typographic and formatting errors have also been corrected.

The original paper has been updated as follows:
